GENOVA

HEART OF THE ITALIAN RIVIERA

Flaubert declared that Genoa, Italy's largest sea port, had 'a beauty that tears the soul'. Whilst history feels alive in the extensive old city, since being 2004 European City of Culture, Genoa has undergone radical makeovers. The old town has a bright new crop of fashionable shops, restaurants and bars and the port area hosts Europe's largest aquarium, the maritime museum and a host of eating and drinking options.
